Evidence

1. Evidence for existence of former State Charges:

Quoted for record:

"Florence, S.C. (WPDE) – Charles Durell Nethercutt, 32, who was wanted for the attempted murder of his wife after deputies said he poured gas on her and set her on fire, was captured in New York last week and is now booked at the Florence County Detention Center, according to detention center online records.

Records show Nethercutt was booked into the detention center at 6:33 p.m. Tuesday.

The Sheriff's Office along with the U.S. Marshals Office held a news conference Thursday outside the Florence Federal Building to announce Nethercutt's arrest.

Nunn said they're investigating to determine if Nethercutt had any help in evading authorities.

Nethercutt is currently at the Westchester County Department of Correction, near Valhalla, New York. His booking date is listed as Nov. 15 and his next court date is listed as Nov. 21.

He has been sought by police since Sept. 19 when deputies got to a home on Longfellow Drive in Florence and found Amanda Brillhart Nethercutt inside being treated by EMS, according to a police report.

The report says she was able to tell them her husband poured gasoline on her from the jug they used for the lawn mower and then lit it.

It says she suffered severe burns over a large portion of her body and was transported for treatment.

The report goes on to say Nethercutt had left the home with the couple's 14-month-old son in his wife's 2009 silver Mazda. Florence County Sheriff's Office Major Michael Nunn said back in September that the child is now with a relative and okay.

The report says there was black soot in the master bedroom. It says there was also a lighter laying on the floor in the middle of the burned area.

A gas can that is believed to have been used in the incident was located inside the garage, according to the report.

Nethercutt remains in the hospital and could be there for quite some time.

Her longtime family friend Doug Bridges has set up a GoFundMe account to help with her medical expenses.

Bridges said Nethercutt is a 2012 graduate of the Citadel University in Charleston.

The case against Nethercutt is being prosecuted by the S.C. Attorney General's Office.

Justification for opening case:

1. Target harmed an innocent minor and is loose.
2. Target has a history of going on the run from law enforcement and was made aware charges were being pressed by one of his mutuals, leading to suspicion he was possibly on the run.
3. This case was a learning opportunity for new Associates and a chance to gain experience.
4. LEO was accused of "slacking".
5. Supporters requested published work for transparency back in December of 2024, publishing this case would provide that
